

BUREAU OF OCCUPATIONAL LICENSES
STRATEGIC PLAN FOR FISCAL YEARS 2010 - 2015

Submitted July 1, 2009
Tana Cory
Bureau Chief

CONTENTS

This document contains the Strategic Plan for the Bureau of Occupational Licenses. The Bureau was created within the Department of Self-Governing Agencies by section 67-2601, Idaho Code. By written agreement, the Bureau provides 28 regulatory boards and commissions with administrative, investigative, legal, and fiscal services. All costs of operating the Bureau are paid from fees collected by those boards.

MISSION STATEMENT

To assist the professional boards and commissions we serve in their mandate to provide for the protection of the health, safety, and welfare of the general public. To assist the public with understanding the role of professional boards and commissions. To assist applicants and licensees with processes and with understanding the rules and laws governing their professions.

VISION

To exceed the expectations of the boards and public we serve through competent, courteous, and creative service.

KEY EXTERNAL FACTORS

Economic and Population Trends

The 28 boards and commissions that contract with the Bureau of Occupational Licenses for services are subject to economic changes, population trends, and other factors that directly affect an applicant's entry into a particular licensed profession. These trends influence the number of new applicants and the number of licenses renewed annually, which in turn, impacts the amount of revenue collected by a board or commission for its operations.

The structure of the Bureau helps protect the boards and commissions from economic swings by sharing resources. Each board is benefited through the sharing of office space, Bureau personnel, and other operating overhead. Utilizing a single Bureau fund allows the boards some latitude when unexpected cash shortages occur from legal expenses, renewal downturns, investigative costs, or other factors.

Rapid Growth

The Bureau has experienced rapid growth in the number of boards served and the workload the past few years. Given that, the Bureau had accumulated a backlog of inspections and investigations. Below are some examples of the changes in workload over the past few years:

- The Bureau went from 19 boards and commissions in 2005 to 28 in July of 2009.
- The Bureau has averaged 400-600 calls per day since 2006 when we began tracking call volume.
- The number of investigations went from 299 in 2005 to 793 in 2009.
- The number of inspections conducted was 1,288 in 2005 and 1,595 in 2009.
- The number of licensees went from 29,800 in 2005 to 57,212 in 2009.
- The Bureau held 107 board meetings in 2005 and 178 in 2009.

The Bureau added two new boards in and one FTE in FY 2009. Three more boards and a full-time deputy attorney general are being added in FY 2010 including the Idaho State Board of Midwifery, the Occupational Therapy Licensure Board of Idaho, and the Idaho Driving Businesses Licensure Board. The Bureau is currently keeping up with the workload, but additional growth in the future may necessitate additional staff to fulfill expectations. Also, with each new board that is added comes the need for more training for all Bureau personnel.

Technology

The need to keep abreast of technological advances is always a challenge. The Bureau's current licensing database has helped to automate processes and streamline the workload. That system will need to be updated at some point in the future. Technology is expensive, but helps ensure service delivery is keeping up with current trends such as on-line renewal. Adequate technology is key to efficient and effective service delivery.

Law and Rule Changes and Board Turnover

Each board and commission is subject to changes in the laws and rules that govern their respective professions. The Bureau presented 17 sets of rules and 14 sets of law changes to the 2009 Legislature. These changes were brought by the boards to keep current with federal requirements, to streamline processes, and to keep pace with changes in their professions. Constant changes occur in board appointees requiring flexibility on the part of the Bureau staff to respond to educational needs and changes in board philosophy and direction.

Many boards are moving toward using third-party administrators for exams. The majority of our boards now conduct their exams this way. While this will save Bureau staff time and serve the public by allowing exams to be offered more frequently, it is a change in the Bureau's processes. If this change reverts, it would be a significant impact on Bureau resources.
