

Part 1 – Agency Profile

Agency Overview

The Idaho Commission on Hispanic Affairs (ICHA or Commission) is a non-partisan state agency that was established in 1987 to improve the quality of lives of Hispanics in the state of Idaho. The Commission has the authority to secure public and private resources and hire staff to execute its mission that includes promoting economic, social, legal and political equality for Hispanics in Idaho.

It gathers and disseminates information, conducts hearings, conferences and special studies on problems and programs concerning Hispanic people. It also assists other public and private organizations that serve Hispanic people, including providing leadership development.

The Commission also serves in an advisory capacity to the Governor, the Legislature and state departments and agencies regarding the nature, magnitude, and priority of the problems of Idaho's Hispanic population.

The Commission consist of nine (9) board members, two (2) appointed by the president pro tempore of the senate from the members of the senate; two (2) to be appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives from the members of the house, and five (5) public members to be selected from the Hispanic community who reside in and represent the various geographical areas of the state which contain a significant Hispanic population.

The Commission structure consists of one office located in Boise, Idaho. The management positions include: Four full-time employees- one Executive Director – two Technical Records Specialists – one Administrative Assistant.

Core Functions/Idaho Code

The Idaho Commission on Hispanic Affairs was established in 1987 by the first Regular Session of the 49th Idaho Legislature as an independent entity of state government.

Idaho Senate Bill No. 1171 - Chapter 72 Title 67set out the duties and responsibilities of the Commission:

- To gather and disseminate information, conduct hearings, conferences, investigations, and special studies on problems and programs concerning Hispanic people.
- To stimulate public awareness of the problems of Hispanic people by conducting a program of public education.
- To develop, coordinate, and assist other public and private organizations that serve Hispanic people, including the conducting of training programs for community leadership.
- To advise the governor, legislature and state departments and agencies of the nature, magnitude, and priorities of the problems of Hispanic people.
- To advise the governor, legislature and state departments and agencies on, and assist in the development and implementation of, comprehensive and coordinated policies, programs and procedures focusing on the special problems and needs of Hispanic people, fields of education, and employment.
- To propose new programs concerning Hispanic people to public and private agencies and evaluate for such agencies existing programs or prospective legislation concerning Hispanic people.
- To establish advisory committees on special subjects or projects.
- To apply for and accept federal funds granted by congress or executive order for all or any of the purposes of this chapter as well as gifts and donations from individuals, corporations, private organizations or foundations, and to accept volunteer clerical or staff work.
- To cooperate or contract with individuals and state local and other agencies, both public and private, Including agencies of the federal government and of other states.
- To meet and exercise its powers at any place within the state.
- To make by-laws for its own governance and procedure not inconsistent with the laws of this state.

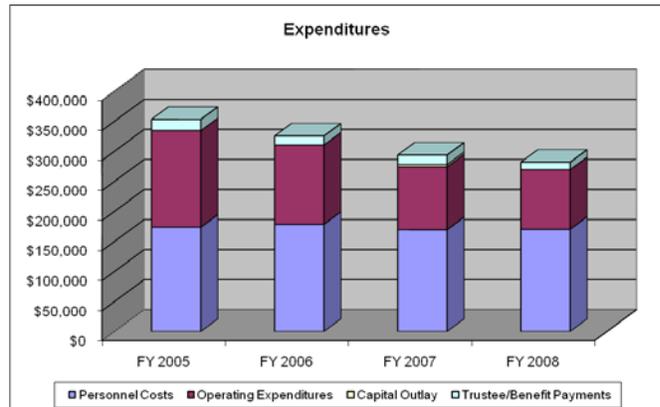

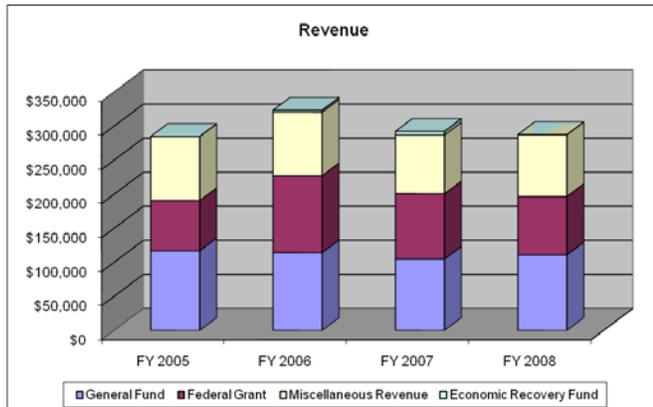

The ultimate goals of the Idaho Commission on Hispanic Affairs is to work to integrate and coordinate the activities of Idaho's Hispanic leaders as partners with an aim to build greater effectiveness for the benefit of all the state's citizens. Our key issues address equality in economic opportunities, education, health and substance abuse. Partnering with Idaho's communities is essential to our work and to our mission. Having a rational Strategic Plan in place has allowed ICHA to interact with, learn from, and be responsive to the needs of our state' communities.

The Idaho Commission on Hispanic Affairs plays a vital role in Idaho as an advocate for Hispanic issues.

Performance Highlights

The number of Hispanics in Idaho has increased over the course of the past two decades, the demand for demographic data and information regarding this population has increasingly become an essential resource for understanding and serving this community. In recognition of this need, the Commission on Hispanic Affairs continues to collaborate in the most current development of the Hispanic Data Report, a demographic report of Idaho's Hispanic community. This collaborative effort has resulted in the development of several goals, including the publishing of the several reports for Idaho. This publications continue to provide a one-stop source of demographic data and information describing the economic, education, and social status of Hispanics in Idaho, for use by a variety of data consumers, interested in accessing data regarding one of the fastest growing and largest ethnic group in our state.

The Commission established objectives around three strategic themes: Resources Promoting Responsible Government, Partnerships Enhancing Economic Opportunity, and Advocacy/Advisory Empowering Idahoans.

Resources and Promoting Responsible Government, the Commission led the State's efforts to disseminate information on Idaho Hispanics and the people and programs that support them. In the Resources theme, the Commission will lead the state's efforts to disseminate information on Idaho Hispanics and the people and programs that support them. The Commission is well-positioned to work with government and non-governmental organizations to collect data on Idaho Hispanics. The Commission disseminates data to inform policy makers and businesses. Examples include the Hispanic Buying Power Report and the Hispanic Profile Report which provide data on a number of social, economic, and educational indicators. The most current report was published January 2008 "Snapshot of Idaho's Latino Communities" Report. Our agency goal is to continue to strive towards maintaining the report updated and to publish a new report by 2010.

Partnerships and Enhancing Economic Opportunity

The Commission seeks to partner with businesses, education, government, non-government and media organizations to advance its purpose. The Commission, by design, is staffed as an agency that leverages others to advance its purposes. This requires an extraordinary level of collaboration with other organizations. The Commission accomplishes this by partnering to achieve common goals. Examples include staff participation in state boards, cosponsoring cultural and educational events (e.g., International Human Rights Celebration), and co-hosting state and regional planning meetings.

Advocacy/Advisory and Empowering Idahoans

The Commission offers advice and assistance to implement solutions that achieve the vision of equality for Idaho Hispanics.

The Commission achieves this through collaborative meetings such as the 2007 Idaho Minority Summit held in Boise, Idaho: an event made possible through collaboration with the U.S. Census Bureau, U.S. Hispanic Leadership Institute (USHLI), and local community partners. The Commission also advises state officials who are faced with social tensions arising from accusations of discrimination and/or discriminatory practices.

The Commission's state-provided resources are designed to establish a minimum staff while empowering the agency to collaborate and seek other resources. As such, the Commission has established five critical enablers to achieve its strategic objectives.

First, is the need for the Commission to be a clearinghouse for important economic, social, and education demographic data. The Commission works closely with other agencies and non-governmental organizations to leverage their resources and collaborate to publish important reports that inform policy makers, educators, non-profit agencies, civic leaders, and businesses on the trends reflective of Idaho Hispanics.

A partnership continues with the Idaho Department of Commerce and Labor to continue to publish the most current data regarding the Hispanic Buying Power to address economic development in the state of Idaho.

Phase II of the report was unveiled on February 2007 at a legislative reception.

Second, the Commission holds its Board meetings at locations throughout the state. As such, the Commission works closely to build relationships with local Hispanic leaders and leaders of local programs that benefit Idaho Hispanics. This outreach effort allows the Commission to expand its sphere of influence while accessing alternative resources (people, programs, financial, facilities).

Third, through its staff the Commission stays informed and acts on pending legislation. Four members of the Commission are state legislators who provide the Commission with their insights into public policy and law. The Commission also collaborates with state universities to offer a select number of students independent project opportunities wherein they learn the inner workings of state government while providing the agency analysis of pending legislation.

Fourth, The Commission works with media outlets, educators, and business organizations (e.g., chambers of commerce) to build local knowledge of issues impacting Hispanics in Idaho. For example, the Commission works with school districts to educate teachers and counselors on Hispanic culture and ways to increase parental participation in student learning.

Finally, the Commission seeks government grants and private funds as authorized by its enabling legislation to develop and implement state and regional education and outreach programs. For example, the Commission successfully operates a Substance Abuse Prevention Project funded via contract with the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare. Under this program, the Commission provides education on substance abuse issues to the Hispanic community in Idaho, and administers a scholarship project. The Commission also operates the Entérate project which is in its third year of providing training and technical assistance to educators and parents across the state of Idaho. This program is made possible in partnership with the Department of Education, Safe and Drug Free Schools and Communities. The Commission acts as a consulting resource to existing programs in school districts to increase outreach to students and families within the Hispanic community. The Commission acts as a liaison between the Hispanic community and other state entities, striving to create relationships with school districts and communities to build partnerships and create a brighter future for Idaho's youth.

Since the re-establishment of the agency web site the Idaho Commission on Hispanic www2.state.id.us/icha is receiving an increase minimum of over 35,836 hits per month.

The ultimate goals of the Idaho Commission on Hispanic Affairs is to work to integrate and coordinate the activities of Idaho's Hispanic leaders as partners with an aim to build greater effectiveness for the benefit of all the state's citizens. Our key issues address equality in economic opportunities, education, health/substance abuse.
