

Part I – Agency Profile

Agency Overview

The Idaho Commission for Libraries is located in the Executive Branch of state government. It is governed by the Board of Library Commissioners—five members appointed by the Governor. The agency's name has varied since it was established in 1901, but through much of its history it was known as the Idaho State Library. Effective July 1, 2006 the name changed to the Idaho Commission for Libraries.

The State Librarian, appointed by the Board of Library Commissioners (I.C. 33-2504), serves as the agency's chief executive officer and is charged with implementing the Board's promulgated rules and policies and with managing the operations of the agency. State Librarian Ann Joslin works with three staff (Deputy State Librarian, Program Supervisor, and Administrative Services Manager) as a Management Team. In a relatively flat organizational structure, all employees work to support the agency mission to assist libraries to build the capacity to better serve their communities.

The Commission currently operates with 37.5 positions and maintains three office locations: the central office in Boise at 325 W. State Street and field offices in Moscow and Idaho Falls.

In 1901, the Idaho Free Library Commission was organized as a state institution and received its first state appropriation. In addition to providing reading materials to Idaho citizens via the traveling library, the agency was to assist in the establishment and improvement of free public and school libraries to deliver, foster, and promote library services throughout the state.

Beginning in 1957, the agency was designated as the Idaho recipient of federal funds under the Library Services Act (LSA), and it was appropriated a significant increase in its general fund budget to provide the match necessary to receive the LSA funds. The federal program evolved over the years to reflect changing needs, first to the Library Services and Construction Act (LSCA) and, most recently, to the Library Services and Technology Act (LSTA). LSTA funds are used for pilot projects, to implement collaborative projects among Idaho libraries, and for statewide library programs that provide services to all Idaho residents.

The following milestones in the agency's history provide further context and foundation for understanding the four years covered in this report:

- In 1972, legislation passed that charged the agency with distributing Idaho state public documents through a system of depository libraries.
- In the same year, the State Legislature directed the agency to establish library services for the blind and others who could not use regular print materials.
- In 1984, library development services (continuing library education, consultant services, and statewide planning) were expanded as a response to major changes occurring in the public library community.
- In 1998, the legislature appropriated ongoing state funds for the Libraries Linking Idaho (LiLI) Databases, the first online information and research resource made available statewide through the agency's website.
- In 2002, after a 20% budget cut over two years, the Board discontinued several direct services and revised the agency mission to focus on statewide library development. With legislation passed by the 2006 Legislature, that mission was codified, the name of the agency was changed to the Idaho Commission for Libraries to better reflect its activities, and the Board was renamed the Board of Library Commissioners.
- The 2008 Legislature approved legislation establishing a digital repository for state publications to replace the print-based state documents depository system.
- The 2009 Legislature approved legislation removing the Commission from the oversight of the State Board of Education and making it a self-governing agency with Commissioners appointed by the Governor, effective July 2009.
- In 2010, the Commission was awarded a $1,907,531 Broadband Technology Opportunities Program (BTOP) grant to expand broadband and computing capacity in Idaho public libraries and expand online resources to support informal learning, job/workforce development skills, K-14 and adult basic education, and e-government services.

- Reflecting the state's economy, the agency saw a 34.5% budget cut over two years, from FY 2009 to FY 2011.
- In September 2012, the Commission was awarded a three-year $250,000 National Leadership Grant from the Institution of Museum and Library Services along with $30,000 matching funds from the J.A. and Kathryn Albertson Foundation. The goal of this highly competitive Campaign for Grade Level Reading award category is supporting school readiness and combating summer learning loss.

The demand for library services continues to grow. Idahoans (children, adults, students, parents, business people) want traditional library services, 24/7 online information services, and a place—physical and virtual, local and global—to create content and participate in community conversations. The librarians' challenge is to plan for and sustain the necessary trained staff, services, and technology to deliver this diverse range of services when and where people want them. The Commission's continuing challenge is to help Idaho libraries better serve their communities and thrive in this demanding and rapidly changing environment.

Core Functions/Idaho Code

Consistent with its mission, the core function of the Commission is statewide library development. The agency provides continuing library education and consultant services to the Idaho library community, coordinates statewide library programs, administers grant programs for library development purposes, advocates for library services, facilitates planning for library development at the local, cooperative, and state levels, and supports national library initiatives that strengthen Idaho library services. Other functions include the management of [Stacks], the digital repository for state publications, and, in partnership with the National Library Service (NLS), the Idaho Talking Book Service (TBS).

¹ This last fiscal year's decrease in Learning Express Library use was unexpected. Further research will be necessary to determine if this reflects an actual change in use, changes in content provided, or an anomaly in the statistics.

² Because of the October 1–September 30 fiscal year, the latest data available from public libraries lags one year.

FY 2017 Performance Highlights

The state's Interim Broadband Committee legislation to provide state funding to help support Internet access in public libraries as well as in schools that passed in FY2016 has greatly benefitted public libraries. Libraries and schools first apply for the FCC's E-rate program where Idaho's public libraries average a 76% discount in E-rate, meaning that, on average, the remaining 24% of their broadband bill had to be paid from the library's local funds – which seriously limited the amount of bandwidth many could purchase. In FY2017, the state average of library bandwidth increased from 40 MB in FY2016 to 70 MB. The state reimbursement is helping more public libraries provide more bandwidth to their communities. The agency also hired our first Broadband Consultant in February and he has been able to work with more libraries to take advantage of both funding opportunities to increase access to broadband statewide.

Performance Measure Explanatory Notes

Percentage increase in interlibrary loans through LiLI Unlimited (to/from): Decreased resource sharing activities, per a recent report of resource sharing needs assessment, indicates a shift to using regional consortia for a number of resource-sharing transactions. The program has been significantly redesigned for FY2018 to address these changes.

Value of Paid Licenses (V) for Online Resources if purchased individually by all libraries compared to Actual Cost (A): Value and Actual costs for FY 2015 forward include LearningExpress Library. The high increase for FY2016 Actual Costs reflects rising costs from the vendor.

* FY2014 figures for databases adjusted to reflect a cancelled database.

 Changes in our State Strategic Plan FY2018-2021 include revisions and additions to our performance measures in FY2018.
