

Part I – Agency Profile

Agency Overview

The Office of the State Appellate Public Defender (SAPD) provides appellate representation to indigent persons who have been convicted of a felony in Idaho's district courts. The SAPD also provides appellate representation to petitioners in state felony post-conviction and habeas corpus cases. In capital cases, where a defendant has been sentenced to death, the SAPD provides district court representation for post-conviction cases, as well as representation on appeal in both the direct appeal from the judgment of conviction and the appeal from the denial of the post-conviction petition.

On July 9, 2016, Governor C.L. "Butch" Otter appointed Eric D. Fredericksen as Interim State Appellate Public Defender. On November 22, 2016 Governor Otter appointed Mr. Fredericksen to the position as State Appellate Public Defender. As of July 1, 2017, the office has 23 full-time employees, including the agency head. The Capital Litigation Unit includes three attorneys, a mitigation specialist, an investigator, and one assistant. The Appellate Unit has twelve staff attorneys and two legal assistants. There is also an Office Administrator and receptionist. The office is located at 322 East Front Street, Suite 570, Boise, Idaho.

The SAPD must provide effective assistance of counsel to its clients and timely process appeals, as mandated by both the United States and Idaho Constitutions, as well as by Idaho statutes and court rules. Ethically, in its casework the SAPD must serve, first and foremost, the best interests of its clients. The SAPD is also mindful of relevant constituent groups and the legislative goal of reducing the financial burden on Idaho counties previously caused by the extraordinary cost of legal representation of indigent defendants on appeal. The SAPD is additionally committed to strengthening Idaho's criminal justice system to ensure it is both efficient and effective for SAPD clients.

The SAPD's Mission: Defending zealously, advancing fairness, and advocating with integrity.

The SAPD's Vision: A better Idaho where the legal system treats each person with fairness and dignity.

Core Functions/Idaho Code

The right of a defendant to representation by an attorney in a felony criminal case is a core value in Idaho, dating back to the days of the Idaho Territory. The Revised Statutes of Idaho, dated 1884, stated that if a defendant "desires and is unable to employ counsel, the court must assign counsel to defend him." Years later, the United States Supreme Court recognized, in Alabama v. Powell, 287 U.S. 45, 68-69 (1932), that the basic fairness required by the United States Constitution meant that indigent defendants facing capital charges had the right to assistance of counsel. More than thirty years later, in Gideon v. Wainwright, 372 U.S. 335 (1963), the Supreme Court ruled that states have a constitutional obligation under the Sixth and Fourteenth Amendments to the U.S. Constitution to provide trial counsel to non-capital indigent defendants facing a loss of liberty. Finally, in Douglas v. California, 372 U.S. 353 (1963), the Court found that an indigent defendant is entitled to the assistance of counsel in a first appeal granted as a matter of right from a criminal conviction.

Even absent the constitutional requirements for counsel, Idaho continues to adhere to the core value of ensuring that criminal defendants facing a loss of liberty are represented by counsel "to the same extent as a person having his own counsel is so entitled." I.C. § 19-852. Similarly, in accordance with Idaho Criminal Rule 44.2, immediately after the imposition of the death penalty, the court must appoint at least one lawyer to represent the defendant for purposes of seeking post-conviction relief pursuant to Idaho Code §19-2719.

The legislature recognized that the cost of providing appellate representation was an extraordinary burden on the counties of Idaho. "In order to reduce this burden, provide competent counsel but avoid paying high hourly rates to independent counsel to represent indigent defendants in appellate proceedings," the legislature created the SAPD. See I.C. § 19-868. The duties of the SAPD are enumerated in I.C. §19-868 through §19-872.

FY 2017 Performance Highlights

The SAPD continues to provide consistent, high-quality legal representation of indigent defendants convicted of a felony offense. As a result of the high quality of service, not only are the individual clients' rights protected, but the rights of all of Idaho's citizens. For example, in State v. Farfan-Galvan, 2016 Opinion No. 144 (2016), the Idaho Supreme Court vacated a felony DUI because one of the misdemeanor DUIs used to enhance the case to a felony was obtained in violation of the Sixth Amendment's right to counsel. In State v. Van Komen, 2016 Opinion No.78 (2016), the Idaho Supreme Court recognized that a person does not waive his Fifth Amendment right against self-incrimination while incarcerated in the rider program. In fact, the SAPD was able to obtain full or partial relief for Idaho citizens in 37 cases this past fiscal year.

Performance Measure Explanatory Notes

In FY2017, the SAPD was appointed to 568 criminal appeals from the district court, marking a decrease in the number of cases to which the SAPD was appointed. This number is consistent with the number of felony criminal appeals filed in the Idaho Supreme Court. In FY2016, there were 601 felony criminal appeals, which was down by 142 criminal appeals from FY2015. As a result in the decrease in the number of criminal appeals, the SAPD was able to lower average workload per attorney from 52.80 workload units to 42 workload units. While this number still exceeds the SAPD's goal to average 35 workload units per attorney, the average workload of deputy SAPD attorneys is the lowest in the existence of the office and within an acceptable range for SAPD attorneys. As a result of a more manageable workload, SAPD attorneys were able to file the initial Appellant's brief on appeal 93% of the time without having to obtain more than a second extension from the Idaho Supreme Court. This is a marked decrease from FY2016 where SAPD attorneys obtained more than a second extension from the Court in 20% of the cases handled by the office.
